This simple safety device will help our vulnerable customers retain their independence, and provide reassurance to family, friends and carers.

Locking cooker valve

Our free safety device can keep vulnerable people gas safe in their own homes.

Working together to help you care at home

When you care for a vulnerable person, such as someone with Alzheimer's or autism, we understand you need extra safeguarding in place. The locking cooker valve can help a vulnerable person stay safe in their own home.

We will fit a lockable safety device to the existing gas cooker pipework. This service is free of charge.

Upon referral, our engineer will arrange a home visit to fit the device. A carer or relative will need to be present at the visit to agree the valve's position.

The carer can easily turn the valve on and off, enabling the vulnerable person to continue to use their gas cooker safely.

We need your help

The locking cooker valve is a simple solution, which helps vulnerable people retain their independence while keeping them safe at home.

When the valve is locked, the cooker can't be unintentionally turned on or left on when the carer or relative is out of the room.

With your help, we can provide a locking cooker valve to vulnerable people in our communities across the UK.

If you are a carer or health service provider and know someone who could benefit from this free service, please contact us.
